RUSSIAN SOLDIERS FIRE ON PEOPLE AT ODESSA KILLING OR WOUNDING LARGE NUMBER

St. Petersburg Expects Storm To Break There Almost Any Moment

RUSSIAN ARMY IS NOW AFFECTED BY STRIKE

Nation Drifts To Anarchy--Strikers' Food Supply Is Scant

Meeting of Revolutionists and Express Spmpathy-- Royal Plate Sent Away--Sailors Mutiny.

(Bulletin.)

London, Oct. 30.—The correspondent of the Central News at Odessa wires today that the casualties resulting from the firing of troops on people yesterday, numbered 25 civilians killed and 287 wounded, two Cossacks killed and two injured. The city is greatly excited over the outbreak, but the crowds are orderly.

ST. PETERSBURG IS CALM.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—The city today remains almost calm in the face of the great strike, but disorders are feared most any time. According to reports from the southern part of the empire the patriots are preparing for a massacre of the Jews. The attack has already commenced at Rostoff, where part of the Jewish quarter has been plundered. A large part of the Russian workmen have made a common cause with the Jews and have sworn to be avenged upon the assailants. Fifty students and an instructor of the Treptzological institute have set up a provisional government. The building in which they have established themselves has been surrounded by cavalry and infantry and all egress and ingress stopped.

ROYAL PLATE SENT AWAY.

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 30.—The Dispatch is authority for the statement that the Czar had shipped all the royal plate and jewelry to Copenhagen. The valuables were shipped in an English vessel and the cargo is insured for $2,750,000.

SAILORS MUTINY.

Brest, Oct. 30.—A number of sailors from the Russian cruiser Duke of Edinburgh, at anchor here, have deserted. The mutiny occurred on the warship. The sailors complained that they were furnished biscuit instead of bread. The captain ordered the ringleaders punished.

ADMIRALS MURDERED?

London, Oct. 30.—The correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company at Odessa today wires that a persistent rumor is being circulated there that the sailors of the Black Sea squadron are in a mutiny and have killed Admiral Birle and Chuknine. The squadron then sailed for Sevastopol, flying the revolutionary flag.

SOCIALISTS ACTIVE.

Warsaw, Oct. 30.—The Socialists are taking an active part in the strike. The banks have been closed by their. A news comes from the Polish provinces stating that the peasants are revolting and have begun to destroy government property. At Lodz the strikers declare they will fire the factories as was done at Baku during the recent troubles in the event of refusal of the government to grant reforms. It is reported that a number of revolutionists who had been arrested for carrying loaded revolvers were executed in the citadel after being tried by court martial.

WITTE DECLINES OFFER.

Paris, Oct. 30.—A financial firm has received a report stating that Count Witte has been offered the premiership of Russia, but has declined it.

FACTORY WORKERS STRIKE.

Helsingfors, Oct. 30.—Factory workers have arranged to inaugurate a strike. The authorities are greatly alarmed as the garrisons have been greatly depleted until only 4,000 troops remain in Finland.

MONEY FOR SOCIALISTS.

Brussels, Oct. 30.—The International Socialist bureau here has received 10,000 francs from Patterson N. for use of the party in Russia.

RUSSIAN ARMY IS NOW AFFECTED

Officers Express Sympathy to Revolutionists--Nation Drifts to Anarchy--Clashes at Odessa.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—Owing to the great strike the Russian government is no longer in communication with the far east except by the cable by way of China. The situation cannot well be exaggerated. With the present indecision of the emperor the government has neither a head nor a policy to meet the crisis, and things seem to be drifting towards anarchy. The revolutionists openly declare that the government has ceased to exist and that nothing remains to his majesty except to abdicate. With a firm hand at the helm and a rational policy, however, all might quickly be changed.

The people are extremely nervous, and bordering on panic and are easy victims of every sensational rumor. Among countless baseless reports

HALLOWE'EN SUPPER.

The Epworth League of the East Main street M. E. church, will give a "Corn and Pumpkin" festival and oyster supper in the church parlors on Tuesday, October 31.

Will Start Brick Plant.

Coshocton, O., Oct. 30.—The Iroquois Realty company just organized, composed of John Conley, president; Robert Porteus, vice president, and Joseph Porteus, general manager, has paid $15,000 for 135 acres of land adjoining the city on the south, where they announce will be established factories for the manufacture of brick and development of vast deposits of silica. They incorporated for $50,000.

BOULIGAN, RUSSIA'S EX-MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR.

Alexander Gregorevitch Bouligan, who has recently retired from the department of the interior, is regarded as one of the most unpopular statesmen in the Russian empire. His resignation was received with great satisfaction by the general public. Bouligan was the successor of Sviatopolk-Mirsky, who was preceded by Sergius Witte, Russia's most popular statesman.

was held at which a deputation of 30 members of the strikers' committee appeared. In an impassioned speech the leader of the deputation presented the following demands of the workmen and affiliated organizations: First—A constitution and political liberty. Second—That the city furnish food to the workmen. Third—That the city refuse further supplies to the troops and the police. Fourth—That the troops be removed from the waterworks or otherwise the strikers would cut the water supply. Fifth—The immunity of the deputation from arrest.

The council granted this last demand and promised an early reply to the other demands. The council sent requests to both General Trepoff and Minister of the Interior Bouligan not to arrest the members of the deputation, but the police nevertheless took them into custody. Upon urgent representations, General Trepoff an hour later released them.

Most interesting by far, however, is the news from Moscow, the real Russian capital, where, according to private reports, the municipal council and the committee of public safety are sitting continuously and where a struggle is momentarily expected between the "League of Russian Patriots," a reactionary organization led by the priests, and the newly organized militia and students. The Moscow municipal council is also reported to have sent an ultimatum to the emperor demanding the promulgation of a constitution.

Washington Alert.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The condition of affairs in Russia formed the basis of a dispatch received at the state department from Spencer Eddy, the American charge at St. Petersburg, who said the situation was very alarming. The dispatch was the subject of a long conference between Secretary Root and Mr. Bacon, the first assistant secretary. Mr. Eddy asked the department for instructions to meet any eventualities which might arise out of the conditions of affairs as they now exist in St. Petersburg and there were called to him. One feature of these covers the question of protection to Americans residing in St. Petersburg in case of a general uprising which might endanger their lives. In the event of an outbreak they will be accorded the protection of the American legation until further arrangements can be made for their accommodation if such be found necessary.

MANY KILLED

London, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to a news agency from Odessa says there have been two serious conflicts there between the troops and a mob in which 27 persons were killed and 90 wounded. The dispatch adds that quiet has been restored.

Odessa, Oct. 30.—Cossacks have commenced firing on the crowds of workmen and students, who had barricaded street corners with street railway poles and furniture.

At one point a volley from the Cossacks killed one student, three workmen and a girl and wounded 14 persons. The governor in a proclamation says that the first stone thrown at the military will be the signal for the troops to fire. The governor asked St. Petersburg for authority to proclaim martial law, but has not received an answer. All the streets and squares are full of Cossacks and police. Citizens have formed a committee for public defense.

SIX OFFICIALS TAKE THE RISK

ATTEMPT TO INVESTIGATE FIRE
IN A PENNSYLVANIA COAL
MINE NEAR PITTSBURG.

All Killed by Explosion—Damage Is Very Heavy as the Colliery Is Doomed.

Pittsburg, Oct. 30.—John Hornical, superintendent; Daniel Griffith, foreman; Joseph Hunter, John Lavey and Henry Clayborne, fire bosses, officials of the Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal company gave up their lives when they entered the Hazelkirk mine No. 1, of the company at Hazelkirk, Pa., 13 miles east of this city, to ascertain if a portion of the mine was still burning as a result of an explosion two weeks ago.

The entry in which explosion occurred was closed up and water turned on. Instead of sending the foreign miners employed by the company to investigate and see if the fire in the entry had been extinguished, it was decided that if any risk was to be taken those holding responsible positions should take the chance instead of the miners. As the five men approached the portion of the mine which is burning they became aware that the water had not extinguished the blaze. They decided to tear down the bulkhead erected to confine the fire to one entry of the mine. Just as the covering was removed there was a terrific explosion and the five men were blown different ways, all being instantly killed. Andrew Roder, who was some distance behind the unfortunate men, escaped death, but was badly burned. John Hornical, the dead superintendent, was one of the best known coal operators of this section. Roder died soon afterward. The mine is on fire and those in charge say the damage will reach thousands of dollars and the mine may be doomed. The Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal company is a new six million dollar corporation and only recently secured control of Hazelkirk mine No. 1 from the Hanna interests of Cleveland, paying one million dollars for the property.

John B. Hornical, the dead general superintendent, was one of the original owners of the Hazelkirk mine. No. 1 and 2, and is reported to have received barely a million dollars for his holdings at the time the corporation was formed. His brother, Louis, is general manager of the M. A. Hanna estate real property at Cleveland, Ohio, his brother George is general manager of the Hazelkirk mine and another brother, F. F. Hornical, is general superintendent of the Hollonvale field, all affiliated with the property.

GIRL'S RINGS

Recognized by Mother Who Solves Boston Suit Case
Mystery

WOMAN'S LOVER ARRESTED

VICTIM WAS CHORUS GIRL OF SHEPARD KING CO.

She Disappeared in September--Headless Body Was Found Ten Days
Later in Water.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 30.—That the dismembered body found in a suit case at Winthrop on September 21 is that of Susan Geary, of Cambridge, is the belief of the girl's family and friends, and of the Boston police department. Miss Geary, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Geary, was a chorus girl of the "Shepherd King" company and was known on the stage as Ethel Durrell. She was 21 years old. Mrs. Geary identified three rings taken from the right hand found in the second dress suit case picked up near the new Charlestown bridge on Friday last, as those worn by her daughter when she absented herself from the theatrical company on September 11.

Confirmation of Miss Geary's disappearance from the company came from Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of the company and to whom Miss Geary was engaged. Mr. Nathan is now in Pittsburg, Pa. According to Nathan, Miss Geary parted from him on the best terms the day after the company closed its last engagement in this city and he supposed, he said, that she should see her at the next performance in Lowell on the following day. Instead, however, a message was received by the company's manager from "P. A. Smith, M. D., Boston," which stated that "Miss Durrell" was suffering from stomach trouble and would be unable to report for several days.

Miss Geary dropped out of sight after that, and so far as the police are concerned, they have been unable to find any one who either saw or communicated with the girl. Ten days later, on September 21, a dress suit case in which was the torso of a young woman, was found floating in the harbor, three miles below the city, and on Friday last another suit case containing the arms and legs of the victim was taken from the water off the city docks. On the fingers of the right hand were three rings, which gave the police the first tangible clue in the case. It was then found that Mrs. Geary had a missing daughter whose description tallied with that of the suit case victim.

Mrs. Geary declared that when she last saw her daughter the latter complained of pains in the side and Mrs. Geary suggested that she might have been operated on for appendicitis and that the doctor being unsuccessful in the operation cut her up.

A message was sent to Mr. Nathan at Pittsburg asking him to come to Boston and bring the note signed "P. A. Smith, M. D., Boston." Nathan states that when Miss Durrell did not join the company in Lowell, an investigation was started in order to locate Smith, but that no trace of him could be found.

Girl's Lover Arrested.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—Morris Nathan, secretary and manager of the "Shepherd King" playing an engagement in this city, believes the suit case victim was undoubtedly his sweetheart, Susan N. Geary, known on the stage as Ethel Durrell. The company played in Boston the week of September 4. On the Saturday that the engagement closed Miss Geary was escorted to the subway station to take the train for her home by Nathan and another of the chorus girls. Miss Geary was never heard of after she left her betrothed at the depot at 12 o'clock that night. The police received instructions from Boston to hold Nathan and he was taken to headquarters.

for the 11's condition, and names another woman implicated in the case.

Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of the theatrical company arrested on charges from Boston, is in a state of nervous collapse to day. When arrested last night Nathan cried bitterly, told of his love for Miss Geary, and said he had intended to marry her. He said he last saw the girl on the night of September 4, at a Boston subway station. He said he advised her 11's later to report her disappearance.

Police Superintendent McQuaide told Nathan that Chief Pierce of Boston, had telephoned him to hold Nathan. At this Nathan swooned.

Nathan, who is 21 years old, spent a very restless night and day in jail here.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 30.—With the positive identification of the suit case murder victim as Miss Susan A. Geary of Cambridge, the case now is well toward solution, say the police, and the arrest of a doctor, nurse and man accused of aiding the illegal surgery is believed to be a matter of hours.

The latest point of identification was when a tiny mole on the torso under the left arm socket which Mrs. Geary said was on her daughter, was found on the torso picked up in the first suit case. This, with the rings, completes the identification. Inspector Watts said this morning:

"We expect important developments will now follow in rapid sequence. The case is nearing its end."

Norfolk, Oct. 30.—A wireless message from Cape Hatteras to the Norfolk navy yards says the cruiser West Virginia at 1 o'clock today was 50 miles south of Hatteras in the midst of a severe northeast gale and that she will not make the Virginia capes until 8 o'clock tonight. The President is in the midst of today's coast storm and is having an awfully rough voyage.

Cincinnati Workhouse Prisoners are Pardoned Out and Released From Sentences Just Begun.

Cincinnati, Oct. 30.—Cincinnati has the gang on the run. The call has been issued for the criminal reserves of the Cox army and the walls of the prisons are falling down. A GENERAL JAIL DELIVERY IS THE LATEST.

Friday and Saturday were the last days of registration and WEDNESDAY FIVE CONVICTS WERE RELEASED FROM THE WORKHOUSE, FOLLOWED BY 15 THURSDAY.

The work has been done quietly with a view of concealing it from the public and probably many more have been released surreptitiously.

Many of these were men sent up for three months or more only a few weeks ago.

One man tells the story of how he was released. He asked for a stamp. "DO YOU WANT TO WRITE TO MIKE MULLEN?" ASKED THE GUARD.

MULLEN IS ONE OF THE CHIEF COX HENCHMEN. The man asked why he wanted to know and the guard said:

"I THOUGHT YOU WANTED TO GET OUT."

He took the stamp and wrote to Mullen and was released.

In addition to these the city is filled with imported thugs, repeaters and circus rascals. It is with these that Cox expects to win the election.

On the other hand, good citizens are aroused to the danger. Thousands of Republicans are declaring themselves against bossism and craft and openly declaring their intention of supporting the Democratic ticket.

The speech of William H. Taft has a widespread effect in corroborating the charges against the gang. Saturday, a preliminary meeting of the campaign and call upon all free and loyal members of the party to aid in destroying the Cox machine. A campaign committee will be appointed and will work with the gang.

He claims that every case diagnosed early, be it ever so acute and malignant, can be cured with collagol without resorting to the knife.

SMASH UP IN LOCAL B. & O. YARD

ENGINEER CORNELL JUMPED AND ESCAPED WITH A SPRAINED LEG ONLY.

Locomotive Wrecked Two Flat Cars—Debris Cleared the Track in Two Hours' Work.

A smashup occurred in the B. and O. yards early Friday evening which fortunately was not attended by fatal results, or serious injury. Engine 1930 in charge of Engineer Roy Cornell, was pulling down the main track at a good rate of speed to couple on what is known as the "turkey train," a fast freight, which had been made up and was standing in the lower part of the yards. Engineer Cornell had been told that the track was clear and put on a good head of steam.

However two flat cars, each loaded with an empty oil tank, had been switched on the main track and were standing there when the 1930 came down. Seeing that a collision was inevitable Engineer Cornell jumped, and sustained a slightly sprained leg. His fireman escaped injury.

Both flat cars and the oil tanks were badly damaged, while the front end of the 1930 was mashed in.

The wrecking crew at once went to work to clear up the wreck, which took about two hours. The accident occurred east of the yard office.

AFFLICTION OF STAUGH FAMILY

FIVE CASES OF TYPHOID NOW UNDER ONE ROOF IN BAKER STREET.

Two Weeks Ago First Case Developed and in Rapid Succession Others Followed.

Deep affliction has overtaken the family of William Staugh, the well known B. & O. blacksmith, who lives with his family on Baker street, and the situation there is indeed a sad one.

The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Staugh and four children, Helen, aged 12; Robert, aged 9; Hazel, aged 4, and Earl, aged 2.

About two weeks ago one of the children was stricken with dread typhoid fever, and in rapid succession the other three were taken down with the disease.

Miss Nellie Murphy, aged 20, Mrs. Staugh's sister, of Millersport, who was visiting in Newark, also fell a victim to the fever and is now seriously ill, making five cases in all under one roof.

Dr. W. C. Rank, the attending physician, gives little hope for the recovery of at least two of the children. In fact, Robert is not expected to live through the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Staugh, who are highly esteemed in the neighborhood, have the unbounded sympathy of their friends, and the neighbors are assisting in every way possible in the care of those who are ill.

Dome of Cathedral Falls, El Paso, Tex., Oct. 28.—The dome in the great cathedral in Monterey, Mexico, fell, crushing the church into a heap. The edifice was one of the landmarks of Mexico, and was built in 1797. So far as learned there was no one injured by the collapse of the dome.

Karr Indicted. Washington, Oct. 28.—The grand jury returned an indictment against William M. Karr, late disbursing officer for the Smithsonian Institution, on the charge of embezzlement. Karr is at present at liberty on $15,000 bail.

Last Hope Vanished. When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." NO RIOTING IN UNION STREET

SAYS CAPTAIN KRAVER IN AN EMPHATIC DENIAL OF CHARGES.

J. H. Barrom, Who Broke the Window, Was Discharged and Returned to Pittsburgh.

Newark police officers will not capture John Barrom, the special officer employed at the Wehrle plant, for whom a "John Doe" warrant was issued in Mayor Crilly's court Friday afternoon. Barrom has been discharged by Captain Kraver and when the officers appeared at the barracks Friday afternoon, he was well on his way to Pittsburgh. Such is the substance of a statement made by Captain Kraver to an Advocate reporter Saturday morning.

In spite of the fact that an affidavit was filed in police court making blood curdling charges against the special officers, the story from the other side, presents the matter in a different light. The officers claim that J. H. Barrom, the officer who broke Geible's glass door, was not rioting. He was simply drunk and was dancing. In his glee, he accidentally smashed the window.

While Barrom was effecting a settlement, hot words ensued and the three other officers, hearing the racket, entered the place with a revolver drawn. Barrom was taken out of the saloon as quietly as possible and taken to the barracks.

As to the trouble there, Captain Kraver stated that two of his men, who were intoxicated, engaged in a hand to hand conflict in which the fists were the weapons. One of the men was badly bruised about the face but was otherwise uninjured. The "dozen" polishers who were confined to the coal shed, Captain Kraver states was one lonesome Hungarian dish washer, who was frightened and sought refuge in the shed, locking the door behind him.

The officer further denies that six of the polishers quit as a result of the trouble. Harlock, Hooter and Webb, the three men who were mixed up in the trouble Tuesday were the only men, he says, who quit their jobs. The police have made no arrests.

HICKEY PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS

BIG RESIDENCE WILL BE MADE INTO SANITARIUM BY DR. RAGSDALE.

New Owner Expects to Have Property Ready for Business by the First of December.

An important real estate deal has just been consummated in this city, whereby Dr. R. T. Ragsdale, proprietor of the East Main street Sanitarium becomes the owner of the fine Hickey property No. 59 West Main street, the consideration being $7,500. Ever since the establishment of the Sanitarium in Newark it has proven a success, and the growth of the business has been phenomenal. For some time past Dr. Ragsdale has realized that the business has outgrown its present quarters and has been on the lookout for a more commodious house. The Hickey property is a large house of seventeen rooms, and will be remodelled and fitted up as a first class sanitarium, with new equipment, and will be modern and up to date in every particular. It is expected that the new Sanitarium will be ready for occupancy by December 1.

St. Petersburg Expects Storm To Break There Almost Any Moment

RUSSIAN ARMY IS NOW AFFECTED BY STRIKE

Nation Drifts To Anarchy--Strikers' Food Supply Is Scant --Telegraphers Vote To Go Out--Officers Attend Meeting of Revolutionists and Express Spmpathy-- Royal Plate Sent Away--Sailors Mutiny.

(Bulletin.)

London, Oct. 30.—The correspondent of the Central News at Odessa wires today that the casualties resulting from the firing of troops on people yesterday, numbered 25 civilians killed and 287 wounded, two Cossacks killed and two injured. The city is greatly excited over the outbreak, but the crowds are orderly.

ST. PETERSBURG IS CALM.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—The city to-day remains almost calm in the face of the great strike, but disorders are feared most any time. According to reports from the southern part of the empire the patriots are preparing for a massacre of the Jews. The attack has already commenced at Rostoff, where part of the Jewish quarter has been plundered. A large part of the Russian workmen have made a common cause with the Jews and have sworn to be avenged upon the assailants. Fifty students and an instructor of the Treptological institute have set up a provisional government. The building in which they have established themselves has been surrounded by cavalry and infantry and all egress and ingress stopped.

ROYAL PLATE SENT AWAY.

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 30.—The Dispatch is authority for the statement that the Czar had shipped all the royal plate and jewelry to Copenhagen. The valuables were shipped in an English vessel and the cargo is insured for $3,750,000.

SAILORS MUTINY.

Brest, Oct. 30.—A number of sailors from the Russian cruiser Duke of Edinburgh, at anchor here, have deserted. The mutiny occurred on the warship. The sailors complained that they were furnished biscuit instead of bread. The captain ordered the ringleaders punished.

ADMIRALS MURDERED?

London, Oct. 30.—The correspondent of the Renter Telegram company at Odessa today wires that a persistent but unverified rumor is being circulated there that the sailors of the Black Sea squadron are in a mutiny and have killed Admiral Birioukhov and Admiral Chukhine. The squadron then sailed for Sevastopol, flying the revolutionary flag.

SOCIALISTS ACTIVE.

Warsaw, Oct. 30.—The Socialists are taking an active part in the strike. The banks have been closed by their. Alarming news comes from the Polish provinces stating that the peasants are revolting and have begun to destroy government property. At Lodz the strikers declare they will fire the factories as was done at Baku during the recent troubles in the event of refusal of the government to grant reforms. It is reported that a number of revolutionists who had been arrested for carrying loaded revolvers were executed in the citadel after being tried by court martial.

WITTE DECLINES OFFER.

Paris, Oct. 30.—A financial firm has received a offer stating that Count Witte has been offered the premiership of Russia, but has declined it.

FACTORY WORKERS STRIKE.

Helsinki, Oct. 30.—Factory workers have arranged to inaugurate a strike. The authorities are greatly alarmed as the garrisons have been greatly depleted until only 4,000 troops remain in Finland.

MONEY FOR SOCIALISTS.

Brussels, Oct. 30.—The International Socialist bureau here has received 100,000 francs from Patterson N. for use of the party in Russia.

RUSSIAN ARMY IS NOW AFFECTED

Officers Express Sympathy to Revolutionists--Nation Drifts to Anarchy--Clashes at Odessa.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—Owing to the great strike the Russian government is no longer in communication with the far east except by the cable by way of China. The situation cannot well be exaggerated. With the present decision of the emperor the government has neither a head nor a policy to meet the crisis, and things seem to be drifting towards anarchy. The revolutionists openly declare that the government has ceased to exist and that nothing remains to his majesty except to abdicate. With a firm hand at the helm and a rational policy, however, all might quickly be changed.

The people are extremely nervous, and bordering on panic and are easy victims of every sensational rumor. Among countless baseless reports was held at which a deputation of 30 members of the strikers' committee appeared. In an impassioned speech the leader of the deputation presented the following demands of the workmen and affiliated organizations: First—A constitution and political liberty. Second—That the city furnish food to the workmen. Third—That the city refuse further supplies to the troops and the police. Fourth—That the troops be removed from the waterworks or otherwise the strikers would cut the water supply. Fifth—The immunity of the deputation from arrest.

The council granted this last demand and promised an early reply to the other demands. The council sent requests to both General Treptoff and Minister of the Interior Bouligin not to arrest the members of the deputation, but the police nevertheless took them into custody. Upon urgent representations, General Treptoff an hour later released them.

Most interesting by far, however, is the news from Moscow, the real Russian capital, where, according to private reports, the municipal council and the committee of public safety are sitting continuously and where a struggle is momentarily expected between the "League of Russian Patriots," a reactionary organization led by the priests, and the newly organized militia and students. The Moscow municipal council is also reported to have sent an ultimatum to the emperor demanding the promulgation of a constitution.

Washington Alert.
Washington, Oct. 30.—The condition of affairs in Russia formed the basis of a dispatch received at the state department from Spencer Eddy, the American charge at St. Petersburg, who said the situation was very alarming. The dispatch was the subject of a long conference between Secretary Root and Mr. Bacon, the first assistant secretary. Mr. Eddy asked the department for instructions to meet any eventualities which might arise out of the conditions of affairs as they now exist in St. Petersburg and there were cables to him. One feature of these covers the question of protection to Americans residing in St. Petersburg in case of a general uprising which might endanger their lives. In the event of an outbreak they will be accorded the protection of the American legation until further arrangements can be made for their accommodation if such be found necessary.

MANY KILLED

London, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to a news agency from Odessa says there have been two serious conflicts there between the troops and a mob in which 27 persons were killed and 90 wounded. The dispatch adds that quiet has been restored.

Odessa, Oct. 30.—Cossacks have commenced firing on the crowds of workmen and students, who had barricaded street corners with street railway poles and furniture.

At one point a volley from the Cossacks killed one student, three workmen and a girl and wounded 18 persons. The governor in a proclamation says that the first stone thrown at the military will be the signal for the troops to fire. The governor asked St. Petersburg for authority to proclaim martial law, but has not received an answer. All the streets and squares are full of Cossacks and police. Citizens have formed a committee for public defense.

BOULIGIN, RUSSIA'S EX-MINISTER OF THE INTERIOR.

Alexander Gregorovich Bouligin, who has recently retired from the department of the interior, is regarded as one of the most unpopular statesmen in the Russian empire. His resignation was received with great satisfaction by the general public. Bouligin was the successor of Sviatopolk-Mirsky, who was preceded by Sergius Witte, Russia's most popular statesman.

SIX OFFICIALS TAKE THE RISK

ATTEMPT TO INVESTIGATE FIRE
IN A PENNSYLVANIA COAL
MINE NEAR PITTSBURG.

All Killed by Explosion—Damage Is Very Heavy as the Colliery Is Doomed.

Pittsburg, Oct. 30.—John Hornical, superintendent; Daniel Griffith, foreman; Joseph Hunter, John Lavey and Henry Clayborne, fire bosses, officials of the Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal company gave up their lives when they entered the Hazelkirk mine No. 1, of the company at Hazelkirk, Pa., 13 miles east of this city, to ascertain if a portion of the mine was still burning as a result of an explosion two weeks ago.

The entry in which explosion occurred was closed up and water turned on. Instead of sending the foreign miners employed by the company to investigate and see if the fire in the entry had been extinguished, it was decided that if any risk was to be taken those holding responsible positions should take the chance instead of the miners. As the five men approached the portion of the mine which was burning they became aware that the water had not extinguished the blaze. They decided to tear down the bulkhead erected to confine the fire to one entry of the mine. Just as the covering was removed there was a terrific explosion and the five men were blown different ways, all being instantly killed. Andrew Roder, who was some distance behind the unfortunate men, escaped death, but was badly burned. John Hornical, the dead superintendent, was one of the best known coal operators of this section. Roder died soon afterward. The mine is on fire and those in charge say the damage will reach thousands of dollars and the mine may be doomed. The Pittsburg and Westmoreland Coal company is a new six million dollar corporation and only recently secured control of Hazelkirk mine No. 1 from the Hanna interests of Cleveland, paying one million dollars for the property.

John B. Hornical, the dead general superintendent, was one of the original owners of the Hazelkirk mine. No. 1 and 2, and is reported to have received barely a million dollars for his holdings at the time the corporation was formed. His brother, Luke, is general manager of the property at Hazelkirk. George is general manager of the Hazelkirk field and another brother, Frank, is general superintendent of the Dillenville field, all affiliated with the corporation.

SULTAN ACCEPTS PRINCIPLE.

London, Oct. 30.—A Paris dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company states that the sultan of Turkey has accepted in principle the demand for international control of the finances of Macedonia.

SNOW IN NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 30.—The first snow of the season in East Nebraska began falling today, with indications of a heavier fall.

GIRL'S RINGS

Recognized by Mother Who
Solves Boston Suit Case
Mystery

WOMAN'S LOVER ARRESTED

VICTIM WAS CHORUS GIRL OF
SHEPARD KING CO.

She Disappeared in September--Head-
less Body Was Found Ten Days
Later in Water.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 30.—That the dismembered body found in a suit case at Winthrop on September 21 is that of Susan Geary, of Cambridge, is the belief of the girl's family and friends, and of the Boston police department. Miss Geary, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Geary, was a chorus girl of the "Shepherd King" company and was known on the stage as Ethel Durrell. She was 21 years old. Mrs. Geary identified three rings taken from the right hand found in the second dress suit case picked up near the new Charlestown bridge on Friday last, as those worn by her daughter when she absented herself from the theatrical company on September 11.

Confirmation of Miss Geary's disappearance from the company came from Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of the company and to whom Miss Geary was engaged. Mr. Nathan is now in Pittsburg, Pa. According to Nathan, Miss Geary parted from him on the best terms the day after the company closed its last engagement in this city and he supposed, he said, that he should see her at the next performance in Lowell on the following day. Instead, however, a message was received by the company's manager from "P. A. Smith, M. D., Boston," which stated that "Miss Durrell" was suffering from stomach trouble and would be unable to report for several days.

Miss Geary dropped out of sight after that, and so far as the police are concerned, they have been unable to find any one who either saw or communicated with the girl ten days later, on September 21, a dress suit case in which was the torso of a young woman, was found floating in the harbor, three miles below the city, and on Friday last another suit case containing the arms and legs of the victim was taken from the water off the city docks. On the fingers of the right hand were three rings, which gave the police the first tangible clue in the case. It was then found that Mrs. Geary had a missing daughter whose description tallied with that of the suit case victim.

Mrs. Geary declared that when she last saw her daughter the latter complained of pains in the side and Mrs. Geary suggested that she might have been operated on for appendicitis and that the doctor being unsuccessful in the operation cut her up.

A message was sent to Mr. Nathan at Pittsburg asking him to come to Boston and bring the note signed "P. A. Smith, M. D., Boston." Nathan states that when Miss Durrell did not join the company in Lowell, an investigation was started in order to locate Smith, but that no trace of him could be found.

Girl's Lover Arrested.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—Morris Nathan, secretary and manager of the "Shepherd King," playing an engagement in this city, believes the suit case victim was undoubtedly his sweetheart, Susan N. Geary, known on the stage as Ethel Durrell. The company played in Boston the week of September 4. On the Saturday that the engagement closed Miss Geary was escorted to the subway station to take the train for her home by Nathan and another of the chorus girls. Miss Geary was never heard of after she left her betrothed at the depot at 12 o'clock that night. The police received instructions from Boston to hold Nathan and he was taken to headquarters.

for the girl's condition, and names another woman implicated in the case.

Nathan, secretary to the manager of the theatrical company arrested on advice from Boston, is in a state of nervous collapse today. When arrested last night Nathan cried bitterly, told of his love for Miss Geary, and said he had intended to marry her. He said he last saw the girl on the night of September 9, at a Boston subway station. He said he advised her parents later to report her disappearance.

Police Superintendent McQuade told Nathan that Chief Pierce of Boston, had telephoned him to hold Nathan. At the Nathan swooned.

Nathan, who is 21 years old, spent a very restless night and day in jail here.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 30.—With the positive identification of the suit case murder victim as Miss Susana A. Geary of Cambridge, the case now is well toward solution, say the police, and the arrest of a doctor, nurse and man accused of aiding the illegal surgery is believed to be a matter of hours.

The latest point of identification was when a tiny mole on the torso under the left arm socket which Mrs. Geary said was on her daughter, was found on the torso picked up in the first suit case. This, with the rings, completes the identification. Inspector Watt's said this morning:

"We expect important developments will now follow in rapid sequence. The case is nearing its end."

ROUGH VOYAGE

President is in Midst of a Coast Storm South of Cape Hatteras.

Norfolk, Oct. 30.—A wireless message from Cape Hatteras to the Norfolk navy yards says the cruiser West Virginia at 1 o'clock today was 50 miles south of Hatteras in the midst of a severe northeast gale and that she will not make the Virginia capes until 8 o'clock tonight. The President is in the midst of today's coast storm and is having an awfully rough voyage.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Roosevelt and her children returned this morning from a cruise down the Potomac on the Sylph. All were in good health and the children declared they had a fine time.

JAIL BIRDS HAVE VOTES

SO GEORGE B. COX'S MEN SECURE THEIR FREEDOM FROM CUSTODY.

Cincinnati Workhouse Prisoners are Pardoned Out and Released From Sentences Just Begun.

Cincinnati, Oct. 30.—Cincinnati has the gang on the run. The call has been issued for the criminal reserves of the Cox army and the walls of the prisons are falling down. A GENERAL JAIL DELIVERY IS THE LATEST.

Friday and Saturday were the last days of registration AND WEDNESDAY FIVE CONVICTS WERE RELEASED FROM THE WORKHOUSE, FOLLOWED BY 15 THURSDAY.

The work has been done quietly with a view of concealing it from the public and probably many more have been released surreptitiously.

Many of these were men sent up for three months or more only a few weeks ago.

One man tells the story of how he was released. He asked for a stamp. "DO YOU WANT TO WRITE TO MIKE MULLEN?" ASKED THE GUARD.

MULLEN IS ONE OF THE CHIEF COX HENCHMEN. The man asked why he wanted to know and the guard said:

"I THOUGHT YOU WANTED TO GET OUT."

He took the stamp and wrote to Mullen and was released.

In addition to these the city is filled with imported thugs, repeaters and dress crafters. It is with these that Cox expects to win the election. On the other hand, good citizens are aroused to the danger. Thousands of Republicans are declaring themselves against bossism and graft and openly declaring their intention of supporting the Democratic ticket.

Dr. Moorgbrugger of Leutkirch, is the discoverer and out of 72 cases he has treated a surgical operation was necessary in only two. He claims that every case diagnosed early, be it ever so acute and malignant, can be cured with collangol without resorting to the knife.

SHERIDAN MONUMENT UNVEILING
AT SOMERSET NEXT THURSDAY

This handsome monument will be unveiled at Somerset on November 2, with suitable ceremony. Distinguished speakers will be present. The G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans and Company G of Newark, have been invited to participate in the event.

The citizens of Somerset are planning for the biggest event in local history Nov. 2, the occasion being the unveiling of the $10,000 equestrian monument erected to the memory of General Phil H. Sheridan by the State of Ohio. The monument was completed Oct. 18, and everything is in readiness for the formal delivery to the state and by the Governor to the village.

The navy will be represented by Admiral Dewey, the army by Lieutenant General Chaffee, the G. A. R. by Commander in Chief Tanner, the State of Ohio by Governor Herriek and staff and United States Senators Foraker and Dick. The Sheridan family will be represented by the General's widow and twin daughters, his son, Lieutenant Phil H. Sheridan, Jr., his brother, Colonel M. V. Sheridan of Washington, and the members of the family that still make Somerset their home.

Mrs. Ruth Early Nash and her daughter, Miss Amie of Gallipolis, sister and niece of General Jubal A. Early, the Confederate commander defeated at the battle of Cedar Creek by General Sheridan, will represent the family of the distinguished Southerner.

Four companies of state militia, including Company G of Newark, will join the veterans of the G. A. R. in adding martial touch to the event.

Every person in Somerset capable of lending a hand is engaged in the generous preparations being made. It is expected that even a greater crowd than greeted General Sheridan upon his return from the field of victorious warfare will assemble to honor the dedication of the monument designed to perpetuate the history of his brilliant and famous military achievements.

General Sheridan went to Somerset with his parents from Albany, N. Y., at the age of five years. His father worked on the Zanesville and Lancaster pike construction, and "Little Phil" at an early age was "water boy" for a gang of laborers. That was his first endeavor to help the fortunes of the family, which was in humble circumstances.

The monument erected to his memory is 18 feet 6 inches high, an heroic sized equestrian bronze statue surmounting a granite base 8 by 12 feet.

"Deference and Devotion to George
B. Cox."

Since the celebrated speech of Secretary Taft at Akron denouncing George B. Cox the whole effort of the Republican stump orators has been to deny the Cox bossism of the party.
The effrontery of this effort cannot fail to be seen by intelligent people of all parties. Hon. John M.
Pattison called attention the other day to the speech of Lieutenant Governor Harding at the Republican State Convention of 1904, when he placed Geo.
B. Cox in nomination as one of the "big four" to represent Ohio in the Republican National Convention. Mr.
Harding closed his speech eulogizing
Cox with this fulsome remark:

"We yield deference and devotion to George B. Cox."

The men who composed the big four selected by the Republican State Convention at that occasion were George B. Cox, Governor Herrick and Senators Foraker and Dick. So undisputed was the Cox leadership that he was made chairman of the Ohio delegation to the National Convention—made so by Herrick and Dick to cast the vote of Ohio for Roosevelt. In compliance with the eulogistic remark of Lieutenant Governor Harding, they all "yielded deference and devotion to George
B. Cox."

The only way to put a quietus on this "deference and devotion to George B. Cox" is to defeat his candidate for Governor and the entire Cox-Dick-Herrick state machine.

Merely a Bunko Game.

Charles Dick, as chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, has written a circular letter to the officers of the various beneficial and fraternal insurance societies calling on them for lists of their members to enable him to bunko them into casting their votes against Mr. Pattison because he is the president of an old line insurance company.

Mr. Dick regards the persons whom he addresses, as incapable of reasoning, since he insinuates that to be connected with an insurance company is to be a criminal.

"If Mr. Pattison should be elected Governor," says this man Dick, "he will have the appointment of the Commissioner of Insurance."

Of course he will, and the policy holders in the old line companies, and everybody else may rest assured that he will appoint an honest, capable and reliable man to that position.

It is a 100 to 1 shot right now that Mr. Pattison will not appoint Mr. Dick.
Every retired banker who applies for the Insurance Commissionership will have to bring with him a complete copy of his banking record, and Mr.
Dick knows what that will mean in his case.

Mr. Dick has made himself liable for fooling the pension agent at Columbus out of the roll of the Ohio pensioners.
He will have several things to answer for to President Roosevelt, the Commissioner of Pensions, the Secretary of Interior and the United States Senate, in the near future, so much in fact that he will have no time to bunko the members of the beneficial fraternities.

Why?

Why do Governor Herrick and Senator Dick refuse to endorse what Secretary Taft said about George B. Cox?
Because Mr. Cox notified them that if they do he will throw down Herrick's campaign from end to end of the state, and they know that their owner will make good his threat if they disobey him.

It is a remarkable situation in Ohio politics when many of the county committees advise that the candidate for Governor be kept out and prevented from making speeches in their counties. Yet this is just what has been done in a number of counties by Republican committees for the reason that Herrick's entrance therein would do more harm than good to the party, and actually endanger the election of the Republican local tickets. The like was never known before in all Ohio's history.

There are two classes of Republicans this fall—one the Cox Republicans and the other the Pattison Republicans. The latter class is composed of the best element by a good long ways.

Last fall Democrats went over to Roosevelt by the tens of thousands.
This year the Republicans are returning the compliment by coming over by the tens of thousands to the support of Pattison.

There is not a voter in Ohio who does not know that Herrick's election will help to perpetuate Cox's power both in Cincinnati and in the state at large.

An Insult to Catholics.

(Catholic Columbian.)

It is asserted with considerable assurance on the part of certain leading politicians throughout the state of Ohio, that a very large majority of the Catholic voters of the state will this year support Governor Herrick at the coming election.

These men say without hesitancy that because the ministers and temperance men of the state of other denominations condemn Governor Herrick openly by resolutions and meetings, that Catholics will resent such acts on the part of Protestant ministers and the temperance people by flocking to the standard of Governor Herrick. In other words, these astute politicians try to create the impression that Catholic voters, because of their supposed ignorance or bigotry, or both, will vote for any man whom the Protestant ministers and temperance people oppose.

This is an insult to Catholic voters everywhere. The true Catholic votes as his conscience dictates.
Every Catholic should vote for the cleanest and best men irrespective of the party to which he belongs.
Catholics are not bigots. They have been taught from infancy to love their neighbors as themselves, for God's sake. Catholics have no prejudices against Protestant ministers or laymen, or those who advocate temperance, and those who say or believe they have, know little or nothing of the teachings of the Catholic church or of the love which Catholics have for their fellow-citizens of all denominations.

The fact is that the Catholic church is not only the most charitable institution in the world but is also the greatest teacher of temperance in all things in the world today.

MORAL SENTIMENT COUNTS FOR MORE THAN BOSSISM AND GRAFT

"The wave of moral sentiment that is overspreading the state makes me confident of victory. Our adversaries say:
'O, wait until the reaction comes.' But I can tell them that when the moral sentiments of the people are aroused there isn't going to be any reaction. On the other hand, those parts of the state that have not as yet responded very evidently to this sentiment will fall into line before the campaign is much older. Not that the sentiment is not now almost general, but it is more pronounced in some places than in others. For instance, the decent element in Cincinnati seems a little slow in waking up to what the campaign really means. It's a sort of 'corrupt and contented' atmosphere there, but the fog will lift. In fact, before election day I look for the good people of Cincinnati and Hamilton county to arise in their might as they are in other sections in the state.
in a determined effort to overthrow their boss, and I predict that they will win and that Judge Dempsey will be Cinci-nati's next mayor."

"You needn't look surprised. I know what there is to overcome before such a righteous result can be attained, but Cox's rule can't last forever. His day is bound to come, and why not next November? If the people can't win out now, when there seems to be a wave of sentiment for good government all over the country, when in the world can they expect to win? Are they forever to be bound to the chariot wheels of a corrupt boss?"—John M. Pattison.

AN IMPERTINENT QUESTION AND A VERY PERTINENT REPLY

"Who is this man Pattison, anyhow?" inquires one of the sapient orators now on the stump, defending and urging the indefinite continuance of bossism and graft, with reference to Hon. John M. Pattison, whom the Democrats, with the aid of the best Republicans of the state, are going to elect governor of Ohio.

He was born to farmer parents, in Clermont county, June 13, 1847. Was reared on a farm and educated in the common schools.

He enlisted in Co. "I," 153rd O. V. I., in 1864, when a little past 16 years of age. Served to the end of the Civil war. Was honorably discharged and is a member of S. R.
S. West Post, G. A. R., Milford, Ohio.

He graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan University, was admitted to the law practice and became the attorney for the Committee of Public Safety for Cincinnati, for several years.
He afterward entered the life insurance business in which he is still successfully engaged.

He served with credit and distinction as a member in the Ohio house of representatives from Hamilton county; as a state senator and as a member of congress.

These are the brief annals of a well and usefully spent life of one who rightfully bears the name of gentleman. As governor he will turn the sunlight of honesty upon all the public affairs of the state.

FAIR SPECIMEN OF THE ENRICHING POWER OF OFFICE.

In 1890 there were nine persons in the office of auditor of state, including the highest and lowest, and they were compensated with an aggregate amount of $14,626.36.

This was a fair compensation for the services performed.
The services to be performed in the office have increased not to exceed 10 per cent since 1890. This increase would justify the addition of one more employe, with a salary of $1,500, and the total expenditure for a year about $16,500 for the ten office holders.

But the state auditor's report for 1904 shows a strikingly different state of case. For that year there were 50 officials and stipendiaries in the office, and their pay aggregated $88,503.88, drawn from the taxpayers of the state.

That is to say, from 1890 to 1904, the real duties of the state auditor's office increased 10 per cent; the number of official incumbents 506 per cent, and the salaries 605 per cent.

There is of course some reason for this enormous increase. It is the natural result of creating purely grafting opportunities, by the multiplication of offices—and the doubling of salaries. Boss Cox of Cincinnati derives his powers from work of this kind under overwhelming Republican legislatures.

THE CORRECT SIZE FOR THE SUPREME BENCH.

Judge Mathers of Sidney has blazed a path for the bench to follow everywhere. He has refused to recognize any distinction between graft and theft. It has been generally regarded that graft was a polite sort of abstraction of the public money, without any criminal significance, and on that idea these fellows who have used their offices to sneak money out of the public treasury have been going about with their heads up like respectable people.

But Judge Mathers' construction of the law characterizes them as thieves, plain, ordinary, common thieves. The point is well taken, and the people of Ohio, they who pay the hard-earned taxes, will thank the judge for speaking plainly upon a matter that demands strong, direct words.
This so-called grafting is growing in city, county, state and nation. The crime is ramifying the public service in all directions and should be resisted by every resource of the law.—Ohio State Journal (Rep.).

FREQUENTLY PERSONAL RIGHTS ARE ESTEEMED HIGHER THAN PARTY.

Bad in principle, bad in policy, bad in politics, is Governor Herrick's action in vetoing the $95,000 appropriated by the Ohio legislature for improvements at the Ohio College of Agriculture, for special work at the Ohio Experiment Station, and for the State Dairy and State Horticultural associations. And he will likely discover the truth of this statement. Ohio farmers have more than once given proof that they esteem their personal rights above party preferences.—Breeder's Gazette.

CLEAN POLITICS

Millionaire Murray Demands, and Has Denounced Herrick and Bosses.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 30—W. P. Murray, a wealthy business man and leading Republican, a member of the Union club, and rated as a millionaire, Saturday night in a strong interview denounced Governor Herrick. Senator Dick and Boss Cox. His name had been used without authority by the local committee to solicit funds for Herrick's campaign.

He said: "I am against Herrick; I am against Coxism in Cincinnati and Dickism in Ohio and I will not aid even by the use of my name in helping any such crowd to perpetuate themselves in office. I am for clean politics in this city and in this state.
I am not for Herrick because I have no use for Cox, nor have I any sympathy for Dick, who snatched the Senatorial honors from the dead brow of Senator Hanna before the people had a chance to stop and think whom they wanted as Hanna's successor."

"Secretary Taft, in his Akron speech, did not go far enough in denouncing bosses and bossism. There's Dick, who, before Hanna's funeral was scarcely over, called that meeting at the Hollenden and set the wires for his own elevation into the seat of the dead Senator."

GENERAL JOHN G. BEATTY

Old Time Republican Leader, Declares Against Herrick.

Columbus, O., Oct. 30—General John G. Beatty, of this city, an old-time Republican and once a candidate for the nomination for governor, has declared himself against Herrick's re-election.
In an interview he declared that Secretary Taft did not go far enough in telling the voters that Cox nominated the governor the first time and saw to it that he was re-nominated.

"The truth of the matter is that Governor Herrick is a creature of the Dick-Cox machine and this machine cannot dictate to me any candidate for Governor."

GOULD AND RAMSEY RESTRAINED

Granville Man, J. S. Jones, Obtains Injunction from Judge Woods in Athens--Mr. Jones Wants to Know How Seven Million Dollars Was Expended--He Has Hundred Thousand Dollar Interest in the Transaction.

George J. Gould, the multi-millionaire, and Joseph Ramsey, Jr., whom Gould recently deposed as manager of the Wabash railroad, as two of the managers of the Little Kanawha syndicate owning coal lands and railroads, have not disposed of those properties and will not do so; at least until after November 9th, when Judge J. P. Wood of Athens, will hear the application of John S. Jones of Granville, for a receiver for the syndicate.

Neither Gould or Ramsey probably knew until Saturday night that the base of action had been changed. Developments had indicated when the federal court for want of jurisdiction, dismissed Mr. Jones's petition in Cincinnati, as telegraphed the Advocate last week, that he had given up the fight. Instead, he took the first train to Athens and filed a new petition, securing a restraining order as stated.

The Little Kanawha fight has had peculiar effects on the interests represented. It brought Gould and Ramsey together at Cincinnati within a week after their bitter struggle at Toledo for supremacy in the contest for control of the Wabash, and they appeared in court accompanied by the same counsel, and what one said seemed perfectly agreeable to the other. In this fight, their interests are identical, and hence the concerted action.

They want to sell the holdings of the syndicate for something like $8,000,000, but Mr. Jones has stepped in and told the court that the 50,000 acres of coal land of the company is alone worth that much.

Mr. Jones has this to say, concerning the case:

"I don't think the syndicate is getting near a full value for its property. The West Virginia coal lands are worth more than will be received for the entire property under the proposed sale as reported by the managers. There is something very suspicious looking about the proposed sale. They will not permit those interested to see its terms. It is plain the managers are attempting to get some personal advantages at the expense of those for whom they are trustees. Why do they refuse access to the syndicate books? What is there to conceal? No one can be blamed for distributing them when they refuse to give an account of their trust."

"They spent over $700,000 on the proposed line from Zanesville to Parkersburg and then abandoned it. Why did they waste so much money? Why do they not complete the road? It is through a good country and would pay. If everything is all right why does Ramsey refuse to tell how six or seven million dollars were expended? A refusal to account always argues something wrong. We hope and expect to get justices in the Athen court."

As far as the petition shows, Mr. Jones is making the contest alone. Stories emanating from the other side, presumably, say that everybody but the plaintiff is satisfied. Mr. Jones does not think so, although he names no others who are supporting him in the fight.

INJURED BY CARS SECOND TIME

Henry Siegel, Newark Young Man, Whose Leg Was Mangled at Black Hand, Falls Under Train at Dayton and is Probably Fatally Hurt--Mother Goes to His Bedside.

Henry Siegel, aged about 25 years, a son of the late Frederick Siegel, who lived with his mother Mrs. Barbara Siegel at 116 Valandigham street, met with a frightful accident at Dayton last Saturday night, while beating his way on a Big Four passenger train. The accident will almost necessarily prove fatal, his recovery being miraculous.

A number of years ago while Siegel was still a school boy, he was gathering berries near Black Hand with some other lads, and they decided to board a B. & O. freight to return to Newark. Siegel fell under the wheels and had his left leg cut off about the knee. As he grew older he developed a wandering disposition and the fact that he had a cork leg did not appear to be any handicap to his ability to get on and off moving trains in his roamings about the country. Last Saturday night he was on a forward platform when by some fatal accident the cork leg became displaced and fell from its socket. This caused him to lose his balance and fall under the wheels, which passed over his right leg and left arm, amputation being necessary in each case.

He was placed in a Dayton hospital and is in a critical condition. His relatives in Newark were notified of the accident and his mother went to Dayton Sunday.

Mr. Henry Siegel Monday afternoon received word from Dayton that the injured young man had rallied in a wonderful manner and that the chances for his recovery were more than equal.

should have the promise which was made them carried out.

The territory through which the road would pass is very desirable and he is quite sure it would be a success from the start. He is quite confident that the other ventures made by the syndicate have just as bright a future and he is not going to permit the properties to be disposed of when, in his estimation, there is a possibility of their bringing a much better return. If operated, to their owners than the trustees could get by selling them at this time.

Mr. Jones's position is undoubtedly very largely due to the attitude of the managers. From them, he alleges, he has been unable to secure any information, but his petition nevertheless, contains an array of figures and statements, and he does not hesitate to make sensational charges reflecting upon the syndicate board.

While he wants them restrained from disposing of the holdings of the company, he would not protest against the sale of the assets by a receiver, if the court thought such a course advisable.

Mr. Jones is a man of considerable wealth, and ranks among the foremost in the coal world. Years ago he was associated with H. D. Turney in Columbus under the firm name of Turney & Jones. The partnership was dissolved and Mr. Jones moved to Chicago, although now lives in Granville, maintaining a fine home in the old college town.

He is represented in his fight against Gould, Ramsey and Guy, by the law firm of Rannels & Burry of Chicago; Bentley & Mathews of Cincinnati; and by Grosvenor, Jones & Worstell of Athens.

He wants an accounting to show how much stock was issued, what was done with the receipts and how much money was spent and in what direction. The syndicate agreement provided for an issue of $6,000,000 in stock, or not to exceed $8,000,000. About $7,000,000 was actually put out, and if his figures are correct the company has a comfortable working capital.

LARGE AUDIENCE

Heard Xenia Evangelist's Address to Men at Taylor Hall Here Sunday Afternoon.

The largest audience of men seen in Taylor Hall this season was present to hear the address by Rev. R. Ames Montgomery of Xenia, Sunday afternoon. "A Man's Religion" was his subject and he handled it in a manner that made a profound impression upon all.

He showed how true religion enters into a man and possesses him in mind, in feelings and will power, and closed by making a strong appeal to men not only to accept Christ by giving intellectual assent to His teachings and allowing their affections to be swayed by His life and deeds, but to surrender their wills to Him.

A man is never in the right relation to God until he wills to be. He must say "I will take Jesus as my Lord and Master."

The Apollo club, the male chorus recently organized by Prof. Nuabum, rendered with fine effect two numbers. This organization is sure to become a very popular feature of the Men's meetings. The club will be heard at least once a month.

WEHRLI NIGHT

At the Y. M. C. A. Next Saturday--Large Number of Car Shop Men Enjoyed Program.

The Y. M. C. A. building was thronged with men Saturday night. It was "Jewett Car Works Night" and a large number of the employees and others were present.

The little informal program of instrumental music and readings given by The Marlow Entertainment Company seemed to be greatly enjoyed. Rienze's Address, given by Mr. J. F. Marlow, was especially fine.

The bowling alleys were busy all evening and many of the visitors enjoyed the delights of bath and swimming pool.

The event that created most excitement was the game of indoor baseball between a team from the Jewett Car Works and a team from the B. & O.

The following was the line-up:
B. & O.--Garrett c; Helms p; Shaw 1b; Fitzgerald 2b; Hurlough 3b; Genender 4b; Sherard ss.
Jewett--Lucas c; Paulson p; Anthony 1b; Krebs 2b; Russell 3b; Williams ss; Jeckelmeier 4b.

The final score was 20 to 10 in favor of the B. & O.

Next Saturday evening will be "Wehrli Night" when the attendance no doubt will be the largest yet.

Mr. John W. K. Davis, who is superintending the construction of Newark's municipal water system.

Mr. Mannion is to be an inspector on the construction work. Mr. Mannion was obliged to quit office work last spring owing to ill health but he has so far recovered as to be able to put on the harness again. He is a capable and energetic man who may be depended upon to do his work well. The Board of Public Service is to be congratulated upon selecting Mr. Mannion.

HALLOWE'EN, TUESDAY NIGHT

SOME OF THE TIME HONORED GAMES THAT WILL BE PLAYED.

Police Will Preserve Order So Far as Possible and Will Promptly Arrest Offenders.

Hallowe'en, the night so beloved of the young, is drawing near. There will be many social affairs planned for Tuesday night, October 31, and the spirit of mischief will be abroad in the land.

For those who will celebrate the evening in an elaborate manner perhaps a few suggestions will be acceptable. Darkness seems one of the necessities for the occasion, and there must be no light except through pumpkin jack o' lanterns, cats' heads, or scooped out squashes. The Chinese joss sticks make a very weird light and are permissible. One corner of the room may be given to a witch's cauldron, while under it burns a fire of salt and alcohol. The cauldron may be filled with anything young people like--hot lemonade or cider. One girl dressed as a witch may sit by the cauldron and dip out the brew.

Several games are sacred to the evening of All Saints. One is to take a bite from an apple suspended on one end of a crossbar about five feet from the floor. On the other end of the bar lie a piece of butter, corn or a piece of chalk, and see how many marks will be on the faces of the ones who try to bite the apple. As there is no promise of marrying unless a bite is taken, a soft ripe apple should be chosen.

Another interesting game is to burn hazelnuts on a shovel. Only two should be put on at a time, named for a girl and her sweetheart. If they burn gently along it is a promise of a happy married life. If one burns out faster than the other, it is an omen of widowhood, and if the one pops over the shovel it indicates divorce. If they burn along at a very lively rate it foretells quarrels and bickerings.

Then there is the water game. Three bowls are brought in, one filled with clear water, one with dirty water and one empty. The young people making the test are blindfolded; if the hand is put in the clear water the fate is fortunate; if in the dirty water the fate will be unhappiness in the married state, and if into the empty bowl there will be no marriage.

The refreshments should be apples, chestnuts, cider and doughnuts.

The police department will not object to innocent amusements, but the line is drawn against destruction or theft of property.

Chief Sheridan has given instructions for the police to be extra vigilant Tuesday night, and extra officers will be on duty to maintain order. Arrests of offenders will be made by the police so it will be well for the boys and girls to behave themselves.

ILLINOIS MAN ARRESTED HERE

ALLEGED THAT MOLDER KNIEPER ASSAULTED WIFE WITH A HAMMER.

Woman in Serious Condition in Hospital at Quincy, Ill.--Husband is Freed on Habeas Corpus.

Charged with a brutal assault on his wife at Quincy, Ill., Charles Knieper, a molder at Wehrle's, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Officer Daily and lodged in the city prison. The arrest was made upon the request of the chief of police at Quincy who stated that Knieper's wife was in a hospital in that city and was in a serious condition, though her recovery was expected.

The Quincy officials state that Knieper in a drunken frenzy attacked his wife and beat her with a hammer. After leaving her apparently dead, Knieper made his escape, going to Hannibal, Mo., where he was captured by detectives from Quincy. He was lodged in the city prison at that place to be held until train time, but escaped.

Word was sent to Newark to keep watch for him as he had instructed a friend to send a gripful of clothing to an address in Newark. A close watch was kept at this address and at a West Newark saloon. Saturday it was learned that he was at work at the Wehrle foundry.

To Chief Sheridan, Knieper admitted that he assaulted his wife but denied that he used a hammer. He is being held awaiting the arrival of officers from Quincy.

Friends of Knieper appeared before Probate Judge Irvine Monday and commenced a habeas corpus proceedings to secure his release. Chief of Police Sheridan submitted two letters, one from Quincy's chief of police and another from the county of which Quincy is the seat. The evidence was considered insufficient to hold Knieper and he was released. He could have been held, had Chief Sheridan filed an affidavit against the man charging him with being a fugitive from justice, but not knowing whether the officers from Quincy would appear, he refused to take the responsibility. Knieper left the city immediately for parts unknown.

THE COMING OF A PRINCE

The Four Hundred in a Flutter and Society Eager to Dance Upon a Real Ballroom That Rides the Sea.

Louis of Battenberg, Who Bears a Message of Good Will From King Edward, Will Also Bring Joy to the Social World.

The Distinguished Visitor Is an Admiral and Prince, but He Is a Good Fellow as Well. Democratic in Taste, of Marked Ability, He Has Won His Way to the Top on His Merits.

NEWPORT and Fifth avenue are excited. A prince is coming to America. Not since the days when the brother of the kaiser was "in our midst" has there been such a flutter in the hearts of the Four Hundred. The prince who is coming to see us now is not the brother of any of the reigning monarchs, but he is the brother-in-law of the czar of all the Russias. He is likewise a nephew of King Edward, at least by marriage, besides being related to most of the royalties of Europe. Nearly everybody of royal blood is connected with nearly everybody else of royal blood, there having been so much intermarriage among reigning houses that the intricacies of relationship are something fearful and wonderful to behold. "Our royal cons-merits, and from his slow progress it appears that he was permitted to do so. His nickname in the navy is "Batts," which was applied to him at first out of contempt, but is now given in affection. When on duty he insists on being accorded only the recognition due him as an officer of the navy, waiting all the princely prerogatives. He also insists on being marked as "L. B." in the navy. He has had to live pretty much altogether on his pay as an officer, as he is only the possessor of a castle and small estate in Germany, from which he derives little revenue. He is said to have credit, his whole ambition has seemed to be in the line of making himself a good naval officer, and he has ever been loyal to the country of his adoption. Several years ago, when he was only a captain in the British navy, without any immediate prospect of promotion, he was offered by his brother-in-law, the czar, the position of vice admiral in the Russian navy, but declined it. True, he is a major general of artillery in the German army, but that is only an honorary title. The other would not have been a play prince. If he had accepted the czar's offer Prince Louis might now have been at the bottom of the China sea, where considerable of the Russian navy went.

At another time Prince Louis was offered the rulership of Bulgaria, a post that his brother had held, but he also declined that. In fact, he is said to regret that he was born a prince and not a naval officer pure and simple. So it may be just as well to call him Admiral Battenberg, the title that he himself prefers.

Popular in the Navy.

The admiral was never in actual battle but once, and that was in Egypt in 1882. He was a sublieutenant then, serving under Lord Charles Beresford. For his service in that action he wears a medal and the khedive's star. He was afterward made a lieutenant, several years later a commander, then a captain and only recently a rear admiral. He has shown considerable ability in naval maneuvers and was for several years director of naval intelligence at the admiralty, a position a little interested more, in fact, than they are in princes or what not. The fleet which Prince Louis is bringing is known as the second cruiser squadron and is the fastest in the world. It consists of the armored cruiser Drake, which is the flagship, and the smaller armored cruisers Essex, Cornwall, Bedford, Bedford and Cumberland. The Drake is a vessel of over 14,000 tons and has a twenty-four knot speed. The others are each 9,200 tons and have a speed of twenty-three knots. The American navy has only one cruiser making as high as twenty-three knots, and that is the Minneapolis.

A Brave Sight.

British war vessels visited these shores in former times, but not on good will missions. In those good old days

REAR ADMIRAL ROBERT D. EVANS.

John Paul Jones, Perry, Decatur, Lawrence and others did things to the visitors other than entertaining them at pink teas. Though getting the best of the English generally, we did not have everything our own way. For example, a British fleet once took Washington. It is proposed that Prince Louis shall take Washington, but only socially. The British ambassador is to give him a great blowout, after which he will be received and given a dinner at the White House. The fleet will visit Hampton Roads and Annapolis and will make New York bay in its rounds. It arrives too late for the Newport season, which is quite a disappointment to the Four Hundred, but is of no great concern to the rest of the country. The visitors will be escorted by an American fleet under the command of "Fight ing Bob" Evans, who, though not of royal descent, is something of an admiral himself. With all the Yankee and English vessels in line they will make a brave sight. There will be balls and receptions, pink teas and dinners galore. These will take place on shore, on the decks of the American vessels and on the specially constructed ballroom deck of the Drake.

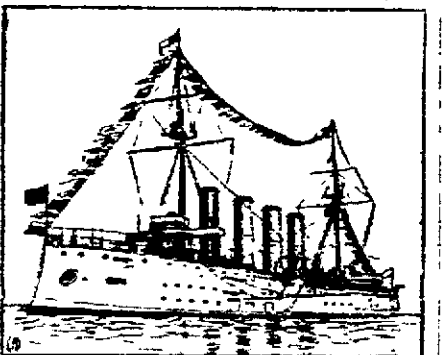

During the summer Prince Louis was in Canadian waters. His cruise will be an extensive one, as he is to visit Africa and South America, it being his instructions to "show the flag" at pretty much all the Atlantic ports. It must not be imagined that the command of such a squadron is altogether a show affair. It takes ability to command a fleet of fast cruisers even in time of peace.

World of Good Advice.

Accompanying his uncle as an extra A. D. C. is Prince Alexander of Battenberg, a grandson of the late Queen Victoria. While in Montreal, Alexander told this story on himself: Several years ago he was a cadet cruising in the Mediterranean. Running short of money, he wrote a pathetic letter to his royal grandma for funds. No reply. Again he wrote, the second appeal being more touching than the first. To this there came a long epistle from Grandma Victoria containing a world of good advice, but no remittance. Then Alexander wrote a third letter. It ran:

Dear Grandma—Thanks for your letter; also for your photo received at the same time. It moved a fraud in me. I auctioned it off and realized £30 for it.

If family men always find favor in the eyes of President Roosevelt, Prince Louis of Battenberg should be popular at the White House, as he is the father of four, ranging in age all the way from twenty to five, the two older being girls and the two younger boys. This season of royalty is also an inventor. He devised the first system of long distance signaling on shipboard; also a course indicator that is now in general use in the British navy. All these things would indicate that he has been a useful citizen in spite of the fact that he is a prince. While his blue blooded connections may assure him a welcome on our world, his aristocracy has achievements as a man will bring him one from genuine Americans.

Then he represents his government and bears a message of good will, and messengers of good will are always welcome in all lands.

NEWARK MAN IN HAWAII

Second of a Series of Letters by Daniel Shephardson Jr. Ph. D.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Oct. 12.—In my first letter I wrote you of our eleven day journey from Newark to Honolulu. I take pleasure in sending you now something about the location, character, history, climate, population and general present-day conditions of the Hawaiian Islands. As you know the Hawaiian group of eight inhabited islands lies between 18 deg. 4 min. and 22 deg. 15 min. North Latitude and 154 deg. 50 min. and 160 deg. 30 min. west Longitude, or to put the matter more concretely, it is located about midway in the North Pacific ocean, 2100 miles southwest of San Francisco, just south of the tropic of Cancer. A latitudinal line drawn through Honolulu would pass through Mexico City, Cuba, the Desert of Sahara, Bombay and Hong Kong.

One hundred years ago this was the one of the most isolated portions of the globe, far removed from the centers of civilization and the paths of the trader. Today it is on the very highway of the nations, and is well called "the cross roads" of the Pacific. Every few days ships are in the harbor from Vancouver, 2,500 miles away, or from Japan, 3,500 miles away, or from Hong Kong, China, 5,000 miles away, or from Australia 5,100 miles away, or from New Zealand 5,300 miles away, or from Panama 4,200 miles away. Army transports from the Philippines or from San Francisco all stop here. When the Panama canal is completed Hawaii's strategic position will be still more manifest and she will become the Columbo of the Pacific.

These islands are of volcanic origin and coral formation. They have a backbone of mountains, intersected with fertile valleys and plains stretching to the seashore. The island of Hawaii, the largest in the group, contains the highest mountains in the Pacific ocean—indeed the highest mountains of any island in the world. There are, in fact, only a few peaks of the Alps that are higher than the Hawaiian Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea. There are no large rivers. The two largest active volcanoes upon the globe are here and the craters of many extinct volcanoes are in evidence. In the outskirts of Honolulu is the Punchbowl, the crater of an extinct volcano; and six miles away at Diamond Head, there is another, and in the near neighborhood are three others. There is a good road to the top of the Punchbowl, which is 500 feet high, and yesterday afternoon we had the rare experience of an automobile ride through the half-mile wide crater of an extinct volcano. These islands, as I have indicated, were for centuries at the very end of the earth. They were first made known to moderns by Captain James Cook, who discovered them while on an exploring journey to Bering Straits. Cook named them "the Sandwich Islands," in honor of his patron the Earl of Sandwich, but now they are more properly designated by their native name, Hawaii.

About 1800-1820 there was a large trade in sandal wood between the islands and China. About 1820-1860 the islands were the center of whaling interests in the Pacific. Sugar began to attract capital about 1840 and ever since has been the industrial backbone of the islands. During the California gold craze of '49 and '50 Hawaii had a great commercial boom and furnished the Californians most of their potatoes, flour, and meat. By 1853 it became apparent that Hawaii was to be "an outlying sugar plantation of the United States." Several attempts were made in '55, '64, '67 at reciprocity treaties with the United States by the Hawaiians, and finally in 1875 practical free trade was established with the States. A seven year treaty was made, and was renewed in 1884, when Pearl Harbor was granted to the United States as a coaling station and naval outfitting depot. Reciprocity relations with the United States continued until annexation of the islands occurred in 1898.

During the early days the islands were under a sort of feudal system, under the control of many chiefs, who held the people as serfs. All the land was owned and controlled by the rulers. Finally one chief became more powerful than all of the others and Kamehameha I, the Napoleon of Hawaii, about 1800 established the monarchy, which continued until, gradually declining in character and force, it went to pieces under the dissolute queen, Liliuokalani, who was deposed January 17, 1893, and the provisional republic was established, which continued until annexation occurred.

The first Kamehamehas were more or less dissolute in personal character and habits, but were willing to learn and to be led. When the New England missionaries came about 1820 the leaders of the Hawaiian people received them, and their religious and social ideas, very kindly, and by 1837 and 1838, a great religious revival (traceable through its leaders to Dr. Finney's work in New York) had spread over the islands and had swept thousands of the Hawaiians into the Christian church. In three years 20,000 out of a total population of 120,000 were baptized. With these early kings and princes the missionaries had great influence, and by 1839 Kamehameha III had given to Hawaii the Magna Charta of the Hawaiian people, a bill of rights of individuals touching personal freedom, right of private property, just and proportionate taxation, etc. With the death of Kamehameha V in 1872, this great line came to an end, and the monarchy began to wane. The remaining rulers were chosen, more or less unanimously, by the people, until the degenerating monarchy came in 1891 to be represented by the dissolute and domineering Queen Liliuokalani, who despotically tried to abrogate the constitution she had solemnly sworn to uphold. Her accession to the throne was by no means at the unanimous choice of her people, and her downfall was made inevitable by her outrageous conduct.

The climate of the Hawaiian Islands is considered the finest in the world. Though they are located within the tropics they are much cooler than other places in the same latitude. This fact is due to the pleasant trade winds which play over the vast Pacific ocean, and to the fact that the ocean itself is at this point 10 degrees cooler by virtue of the return current which comes from the Bering Straits. It is by all odds the most delightful climate I ever found, and I am told by private individuals and by government reports that what we have experienced in our two weeks here is a fair sample of the whole year. These gentle trades breezes make music in the tropical foliage night and day. It never was known to be hotter than 89 degrees or colder than 54 degrees. The average temperature is 73 degrees for the year. The variation in temperature in a single day is never over 10 degrees. While we have been here it has rained a little every day or night. The rains are most peculiar. It rains when the sun is shining brightly, or, as tonight, when the moon is glowing in all her full moon glory. The Hawaiians call these little sun showers "liquid sunshine."

The water is of the same temperature as the air, the people never seem to catch cold from a little wetting, and very few carry with them or put up their umbrellas. Sometimes it will be raining on one side of the street, and be a perfectly glorious sort of day on the other side. This is just now the beginning of their rainy season. We were out today in an automobile for two hours and passed through three of these sun showers. And oh, what wonderful rainbows we had, on several occasions during those two hours! I never saw such gorgeous coloring anywhere in the states. We wear the lightest of light, clothing. Almost everybody, both men and women, wear pure white. For instance, I have on a white pair of shoes, white duck trousers, white negligee shirt and white hat. The trade winds and the little showers make this climate exceptionally fine. The islands may well be called "the Paradise of the Pacific." At night we sleep with doors and windows wide open and only a sheet over us. Everybody here sleeps under a mosquito canopy. The little pests, however, thus far have not begun to compare with those in New Jersey. As we sit about the reading table tonight doors and windows without nets are wide open, and not an insect annoys. We read much of centipedes and scorpions before we came, but we have had no trouble with them. We have seen but one centipede, and that was crawling across the floor of a house built right on the ground. Our house gas six steps up to the first floor and our landlady has made us a standing offer of twenty-five cents for every centipede we can find during our stay in her home. The sun here is bright and hot in the middle of the day, but as there is nothing enervating in the climate a case of sunstroke has never been known here. There are no fogs here, no hurricanes, no typhoons, no thunderstorms, no tidal waves, no sand storms, no frost, no malaria, no poisons, no reptiles, no wild beasts. The climate has been described as "perhaps not excelled anywhere else on earth, midway between temperate and tropical, tender yet not enervating, breezy but not boisterous, sunshine from which you need no protection and a rainfall that does not become monotonous." The children in the streets are vigorous and buoyant. "Only those, especially white women, who do not exercise become weak in time."

The present population of the Hawaiian islands is something over 150,000, by the census of 1900 it was 154,001. Something over 40,000 of this is in Honolulu, about 8,000 is in Hilo, the second city in size on the islands, and the balance is in small villages and upon the 60 sugar plantations. Of this 154,000 total population, according to the census of 1900, 54,000 are native Hawaiians, 12,000 are white foreigners, 60,000 are Japanese, 25,000 are Chinese, and 288 are negroes. If there has been much change since 1900 it has been in slightly decreased number of whites, and in a largely increased number of Japanese.

In my next letter I shall try to characterize these various classes, give you some incidents to illustrate the points mentioned, and try to tell you of social and industrial conditions here, the privileges and the people in Hawaii. Yours cordially, DANIEL SHEPARDSON

"Princess Alice" Of the White House

Personality of the President's Daughter, Who Won the Far East

Her Progress In the Philippines a Triumphant March Honored With Popular Ovation Of "Banzais" In Japan

Charming Young Woman Versatile In Accomplishments
First Class Equestrienne And a Very Good Shot

PRINCESS ALICE," the orientals called the daughter of the president during her trip through the far east. Now, we Americans are not much given to the "princess" mania, but we have a very lively appreciation of Miss Roosevelt for the reason that she has shown herself a sweet, full blooded and piquant type of American womanhood. That in our eyes is better than being a princess or duchess or what not.

It is doubtful if any young woman in the history of the world ever had so many and varied experiences and such honors showered upon her as have fallen to the lot of Miss Roosevelt. In her own land she has traveled much and has been a popular and social favorite wherever she has gone. In Porto Rico she was showered with attentions unique in the history of the island. In Hawaii she was received with the popular acclaim which aforesaid time was bestowed on the queens. In the Philippines her progress was like a triumphal march. In Japan she received not only royal attentions, but was given a popular ovation of "banzais" such as the people of Nippon never before gave a woman. In China she was received by the empress dowager, and to cap all she was offered the hand and the heart of the redoubtable sultan of Sulu, mounted riding whip as a prize for proficiency in the saddle. The whip was to go either to Miss Alice or her brother Ted and should be awarded to the one that showed the greatest advancement in a given time. It is worthy of note that the daughter won the prize. Nor was this the only result. The air of weariness disappeared, and there was a gain of fifteen pounds in weight. It will be remembered that in his boyhood President Roosevelt himself was quite delicate. The strenuous life in the open was chosen deliberately to improve his health. So the daughter has followed in her father's footsteps in more ways than one.

For example, there is the matter of hair. An artist once painted Miss Roosevelt in a hat about three years out of style. That artist wanted a picture and was wise to human nature, especially of the feminine variety. Like her mother, the young lady was averse to photographs, had none since she was eleven and refused to have one. So this particular artist sent in the picture with the hat three years old, adding the cheerful assurance that he would rather have a photograph, but if he could not get one would use the sketch, antiquated headpiece and all. A family council was called, and the daughter of the house decided that the picture must be placed aboard ship. Some versions of the story say the escort in question was Congressman Longworth, while others aver that it was a certain United States senator, name withheld. Whoever it was, the man hesitated. Possibly he did not wish to see the dainty white waist and cream skirt of his companion ruined. Then he may have had some compunctions about his own suit. At any rate, he waited too long.

"Well, if you don't dare I do," flashed the daughter of her father, and into the tank she leaped. The man followed and helped get her back on deck. The whole world gasped when the president went down in a submarine, but very few knew that his darling daughter had preceded him in such a feat by two years, having gone to the bottom of Narragansett bay in the Moccasin. She was the only woman at that time who had ever descended in such a craft.

Doesn't Understand Like Mother.

Miss Alice's mother died in giving birth to the daughter, but the present Mrs. Roosevelt has been as much a mother to the girl as her own could possibly have been. The following little anecdote prettily illustrates this:

Her teacher at school had been inquiring for Mrs. Roosevelt, who was ill, and Alice answered plaintively: "She isn't much better yet. Yes, it's pretty hard. Papa stays at home most all the time, you see, and that makes it dreadfully inconvenient."

"Why, how is that?" "Oh, don't you see? He doesn't understand, like mamma. When mamma tells me to be at home at 4 o'clock and I get there at half past 4, and I get there at even quarter past he doesn't understand at all."

Here is another childhood story that indicates at least a wish to be kind hearted. When walking in the park one day Alice, then a child, sought to comfort a little boy who was screaming and howling because his toy balloon had got away and disappeared amid the clouds. Patting him on the back, she said in a comforting tone: "Never mind about your balloon, little boy. It has gone to heaven, and when you die you will get it again."

The daughter of the White House is versatile in her accomplishments. She plays and sings as well as most young ladies of her age, is more than a fair portrait and landscape painter, is a first class horsewoman, dances well and enthusiastically, and even said to regale her girl friends with fancy dancing and athletic feats of a high and artistic order. To cap all, she is a sleight of hand performer of more than amateur ability. In tricks that require a hat she uses her father's cowboy sombrero. She speaks several languages, being especially proficient in German. When Mrs. Roosevelt was entertaining some German naval officers the daughter of the house aroused their surprise and enthusiasm by carrying on the entire conversation in their own tongue. She is very fond of poetry, her favorites being Keats and Shelley, from whom she often reads to the younger children by the hour. In addition to all these accomplishments, Miss Roosevelt is said to be a good judge of fast horses, having won money by picking two winners in one day. She has had several pet snakes in her brief career, one green one having been an especial favorite. A girl who likes poetry and snakes, who does fancy dancing and portrait painting, who goes down in submarines and dives in street dress, who is a sleight of hand performer, a wit and story teller and a brilliant social entertainer, is worthy of notice even if she were not a president's daughter.

Miss Roosevelt is evidently becoming used to the white light. When a young man showed her the morning paper containing fulsome notices of her own doings she said:

"Oh, I am used to that! Wait until you're the president's daughter." He is still waiting.

Almost Caused War Between Sultans.

The story of the sultan of Sulu asking Miss Roosevelt to be his seventh wife—or was it his fourteenth?—has been told so often it will not bear repeating, but the tale of how she almost caused war between this same sultan and a rival chief is not so familiar. The rival gave the fair American an exquisite necklace of pearls, and the smile that she bestowed upon him drove the sultan into a jealous rage. Rushing to her side, he jerked from his finger a ring containing a matchless pearl. Bowing now he presented it. The recipient's smiles seemed to mollify his rage, and the incident ended without bloodshed.

After meeting the sultan of Japan, the dowager empress of China and other great personages it is perhaps remarkable that the daughter of the White House remembers a plain American whom she encountered in California, yet he is more wonderful than all of them. He is Luther Burbank, the wizard who has practically created a new world of fruit. When asked as to his opinion of the president's daughter Mr. Burbank replied:

"She is just a charming girl, and I am delighted with her." At the same time a grizzled veteran bore this witness: "She is all right. There are no airs and graces about her, no flimsiness. I guess the president is proud of her. I'd like her to be my daughter."

Perhaps it is not just the thing to give away a woman's age, but Alice Roosevelt was twenty-one the 26th of last February. Congressman Longworth, when gossip is trying so hard to have her marry, is much her senior. He belongs to a family that has been prominent since before the Revolution. He is several times a millionaire and besides is something of a social lion.

GOOD ROADS MEETING TUESDAY

Three Session Will be Held in Taylor Hall Tuesday Morning, Afternoon and Night.

Mr. T. P. Rixey one of the lecturers who will address the convention for good roads which will be held at Taylor Hall Tuesday, arrived today. He was seen by a reporter for the Advocate and spoke very enthusiastically of the work accomplished by the association. The meetings at Bucyrus and Mansfield Friday and Saturday were largely attended.

In speaking of the work, Mr. Rixey referred to one of his meetings in Colorado. The lecturers were visiting the town of Greeley, Wells county and gathered a few statistics. They learned that the products of that county, which were shipped from its bounds amounted to 830,000 tons annually. The government's statistics show that 95 per cent of this amount is carried over the primary roads to transportation terminals. Figuring that this amounted to but 75 per cent, and was hauled at a cost of 30 cents per ton per mile, he illustrated to the people of Wells county that they paid $1,100,000 to have their products hauled from the source of supply to the points of transportation. This was a strong argument in favor of good roads. The cost of transportation from the source of supply to points of transportation could be greatly reduced if the roads were good, as it is known that it costs but eleven cents per ton in countries where the roads are first class.

These figures will be compared with the various statistics of Licking county and those who will attend the various lectures will have arguments submitted to show the people why they should be interested in good roads.

The lecture Tuesday night will be especially interesting as it will be illustrated with stereoscopic views gathered from all parts of the world. A special invitation has been extended to the ladies and the speakers urge them to attend.

HUNTER OF HAWKS TREED BY MOOSE

Could Have Easily Killed the Animal But It Was Against the Company's Rules.

Munising, Mich., Oct. 30.—Treed by a moose in the Chequamegon Iron company's big game preserve, Grand Island, Lake Superior, where he is employed to kill hawks, was the experience of Napoleon Marchetti, a well known hunter and trapper.

When the hawk hunter was suddenly confronted by the moose, he might easily have brought his rifle into play, for he is a dead shot, but that was against the company's rules. There was but one alternative, to slip up a tree, and this Marchetti did with alacrity. Then from a point of vantage in a crotch the man watched the animal snap around until his rage subsided. It was several hours before the moose after making desperate efforts to reach his quarry, finally called off, and then Marchetti came down the tree and made his escape out of harm's way.

PRINCESS Rejects Compromise Offered So the Divorce Suit is Re-opened.

Gotha, Germany, Oct. 30.—The suit of Prince Philip, for a divorce from his wife, Princess Louise, daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, was reopened this morning, owing to the decision of Princess Louise not to accept the compromise offered by her husband's attorneys at the time the trial began October 12. At that time an agreement was reached by the attorneys of both parties on the basis that Philip would pay Louise $30,000 and $18,000 annually provided she abandoned all further claims against the prince and resumed the name of Louise, princess of Belgium, after the granting of the divorce. Adjudgment was taken to give an opportunity to lay the terms before Louise, who was not present at the hearing, but she has announced her unwillingness to accept them.

Dr. Visontai, attorney for Louise, declares the case will reveal a series of scandals affecting other royal persons, including Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria. He is a brother of Prince Philip, but notwithstanding this fact it is claimed proof will be offered that he urged Louise to assassinate her husband in order that she might marry him. Louise declares she has letters showing that Ferdinand even gave her a dagger with which to commit the crime.

Visontai has asked that the case shall be transferred from the court here to a tribunal at Budapest on the ground that Philip is a Hungarian subject.

STATE NEWS Insurance Suits.

Akron, O., Oct. 30.—Two petitions in quo warranto that the New York Life Insurance company and the Mutual Life Insurance, of New York, be ousted from doing business in Ohio were filed in the circuit court here. Prosecutor H. M. Hagedorn signed the petitions, which were prepared by George C. Kohler, a local attorney, and former attorney-general Monnet. Both petitions contain practically the same allegations only the names, dates and amounts being different. The petitions ask that the court forfeit the franchises of the companies to do business in Ohio; that they be dissolved and that the court appoint trustees to take charge of all their assets in the state. The trustees, according to the petitions, should be empowered to collect and pay the outstanding debts of the companies, carry out the insurance of Ohio policy holders and divide among the policy holders all the accumulated profits.

RAILROAD INTERESTS

Said to Have Attempted to Pack the Rate Convention.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—"Evidence tending to prove that efforts were made by railroad interests to pack the recent convention of the Interstate Commerce Law League will be taken to Washington by the notification committee and placed before the proper authorities, when they go to the capital to present the resolutions adopted by the convention in Steinway hall." This statement was made by Judge Coven, of Fort Worth, Texas, who was a delegate to the convention. According to Judge Coven the executive committee of the league, for several weeks before the date of the convention, had detectives busy gathering evidence showing that the railroads were attempting to influence delegates with the purpose of defeating the object of the convention in endorsing President Roosevelt's position on the railroad rate question.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kimer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and cooling pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

It is reported here that the syndicate which recently bought the Newark interurban trolley lines is negotiating for control of a continuous line of traction railways from Cleveland to Indianapolis. NEWARK WOMAN ADMITS THEFT

Bertha Williams Alias Lillian Miller Confesses to Shop Lifting—Girls Will be Brought Here from Columbus for Prosecution—Lottie Smith Implicated by Girl Under Arrest.

Columbus, O., Oct. 30.—After a series of cross-questioning by Chief of Police James Sheridan of Newark who was in Columbus yesterday, Bertha Williams, alias Lillian Miller, arrested on suspicion of being guilty of shoplifting operations in Columbus, confessed to a number of thefts committed in Newark recently, although she denied positively she had ever tried similar deeds in this city.

In telling of her own shortcomings the Miller girl implicated a girl known as Lottie Smith, said to be Lottie Aken of Newark, who was arrested here at the same time as the Miller woman.

Despite the charges made against her by the Miller woman, Lottie Smith denied she had done any shoplifting acts in Newark and said she had attempted it only once in Columbus, at the Childs' store, in High street, a deed which resulted in her arrest several days ago. No prosecution was made on this case but the Smith woman was ordered to leave town. This she failed to do.

In connection with the above story, Chief of Police Sheridan told the Advocate that the two women mentioned had worked extensively here. Not only did they ply their vocation of shoplifting but took clothing belonging to Mrs. William Clark of 153 South Fourth street.

Bertha Williams stated that she met Mrs. Clark's husband on the street while in company with Lottie Smith and that they went to his house where they found Mrs. Clark's clothing. She said that Clark offered no objection when they expressed their intention of taking the clothing. Mrs. Clark was in a local hospital at the time.

Chief Sheridan furnished a complete invoice of the goods taken. A skirt and pocket book was "lifted" from Long's department store. The Smith woman is said to have taken a hat from O'Bannon's millinery store in West Main street, another hat from the Carnall millinery store in the Union block, a skirt from the Griggs-company's store, and a pocket book from Meyer & Lindorf's store.

At the interurban station, the Chief found a package containing most of Mrs. Clark's clothing. More of it is said to be at Lovett's laundry. The women will be brought back to Newark for prosecution.
